Diane's Priority Pet Care

Testimonials

One day I saw an ad for a Pet Sitting outfit, and gave them a call, and was referred to Diane Mead. I immediately gave her call and we engaged in a phone conversation of at least 30 minutes, if not more. At the conclusion of our conversation, she had assured me that she would forward to me all of her credentials, references, and life history. Once I received her packet, and after being very impressed and humbled by her life accomplishments, I did give a few of her references a call and while they were all glowing of Diane not only as a person and a friend, but as a pet-sitter, there was one that really stuck with me all these years. He said, "I know that if I leave a dollar on the counter when I leave, not only will that dollar be there when I get back, but undoubtedly there will be a few more dollars added". This was a quote from a client in a very upscale neighborhood with high security, in where Diane had access to all of the information she needed to enter the home and take care of the pets. That statement alone made such an impression on me and to this day, I couldn't agree more.

Diane came to us just about 10 years ago. She has been with us during times of good health and poor health with Meow-Meow. Diane was there for me as a dear friend and even offered counsel when we had to make one of the hardest decisions we've ever made in our lives, when after 16 years, we had to let Meow-Meow go. And Diane was there for me cheering me on and offering uninhibited support when we made the decision to open our home to new kitty babies once we lost Meow-Meow because Diane understood my heart, and knew that without kitty babies in my home, my home was not a home, it was dark and cold. Diane helped me understand that there is no wrong decision when after losing a pet you've had for 16 years and you've loved and adored, that it is okay if I need to love new babies, and it is also okay if I needed to wait. For me, I needed new babies to love, and Diane offered nothing but genuine, loving support 100%. That was in the Fall of 2005.

Today, Diane is still a dear and cherished friend, and the one and only I know I can count on when I need someone to take care of my kitty babies and keep an eye on our home when we have the need to travel. She has a wonderful relationship not only with my husband and I, but with our babies Phillip and Bubba as well. There is no-one else I would ever think of calling when I need pet and home sitting services, she's worth every penny and more !!!!!

I highly recommend Diane to anybody looking for any kind of pet sitting or pet assisting service, and/or house sitting. When we go away, she literally is my peace of mind, and words cannot describe how grateful I am to have Diane in our lives.

Sincerely,
